Eczema on Scalp -Awful Irritation Resincl Soon Healed It Entirely

Mar. 28: "I had a severe case of eccema on my head. My scalp itched and burned and was full of scabs, and when I scratched that would of course pull off the scabs and left my head very sore. The irritation was something awful. I could not keep my hands out of my head. My half became very dry and harsh and did not feel like there was any life in it. The first application of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soup soothed the scalp wonderfully and after using one jar of Resinol Continent and three cakes of Resinol Soap my head is entirely cured—I can rest peacefully and there is no more itching. My temples were almost clean of hair and now they are covered thickly. I must say Resinol is simply wonderful for almost any kind of skin trouble. It does all you say and more." Tunnel Sow in 215 Peet.

The tunnel is now in 115 feet, following what is known as the Scattle ledge, one of the number of parallel ledges on the property. For the last 160 feet the tunnel has been going through a break in the vein. This week the tunnel broke into the vein again, underneath a big quartz and iron cropping which shows for nearly 1600 feet on the hill above. The face of the tunnel slows three feet of ore, which is widening as the tunnel goes ahead. Aparently the tunnel is just entering the end of the big ore shoot showing on the surface.

The ore is high grade black copper, running from 10 per cent to over 40 per cent, and carrying good gold values. A hundred feet back from the face of the tunnel, on another ore shoot, a winze has been sunk 50 feet. This whase has just broken into another body of high grade sulphide, a crosscot showing eight feet of ore of much the same character as in the face of the tunnel. Is planned to continue the tunnel into the ore shoot just entered, and to start drifting both ways from the bottom of the winne. If the present showing continues the Cohrita will soot enter the ranks of the big shippers of high grade ore.

Since the high grade was struck in the Cobrita, several offers have been received for that property, but the company is a closed corporation and the members are more determined than ever to keep it for themselves. A ded is pending for the Paystreak group of four claims, adjoining the Cobrita just below the mouth of the tunnel. The Paystreak claims cover the Cobrita ledge, including the one where the rich ore was found, for a distance of 2000 feet. Its surface indications are just as good as those on the Cobrita. For a distance of several miles each way from the Cobrita there are hundreds of parallel ledges with similar surface showings. Some of the dikes and ledges are 10 to 50 feet in width and cut the main Harcuvar range for miles Nearly all of them are of the same character—diabase and diorite accompanied by quartz, or nearly so, on the surface and showing evidence of strong leaching action.

Work Progressing on Glory Hole.

Work is progressing favorably on the famous Glory Hole property, also in the Harcavars west of Tank pass, and some ore horning considerable coarse gold was struck a few days ago in the main quartz ledge over the Glory Hole pit where the Flow a pound gold ore that created such a sensation was uncovered. The Glory Hole is also located on one of the big black dikes, the main Glory Hole hill being an immense mass of diabase or andesite, and the main ledge occurring on the contact between the andesite and schiel. The main ledge is an immense mass of quartz, spar and iron cropping over 100 feet wide in places, and is the largest ledge in this section. No work has been done until the last few weeks on the main ledge. What little prospecting was done heretofore was on the small spar and iron stringers running out from the ledge.

The Harqua Hala has already produced about $5,000,000 in gold above a vertical depth of less than 200 feet, and with the immense ore bodies now opened up on the lower levels will probably make an even bigger production when the new milling plant is installed.

Didrick Wisgers, who has charge of the development work for E. A. "Bob" Montgomery, of Montgomery-Shoshome fame, is opening some fine ore on the Caff, near the Harqua Hals, and the M. & H. people, of Jerome, also report good progress and better showings with every foot of work.

No Lull in War Orders; No Scarcity of Funds Declare Financiers

Declare Financiers

New York Aug. 19.—Despite the general impression that there has been a bill in the receipt of war orders, which is attributed to the fact that the Alles have increased their facilities for manufacturing their own ammunities, the financial interests of New York report that business with the European governments could not be better.

As a matter of fact, there has been a renewed wave of war orders, and one of the largest financial institutions of Wall Street, which is in intimate fough with the financial situation across the ocean, has issued a significant statement to the effect that "all present signs are against an early termination of the struggle." The statement goes on to may that the Allies have been inspired with new confidence and the Germante powers are not dishenriened. The statement adds that after two rears of war, money is raised as easily as in the first six months, the reserves of the great banks of England, France, Germany, and Russia are about as strong in proportion to their liabilities as they were a year ago.

According to this same authoritative source of information, the belligerents are probably less dependent on the United States than they were. But fighting at the present pace takes ammunition and supplies upon an immense scale. An analysis of the situation is said to bolicate that trade obportunities in all parts of the world dear interest of a decline in bold on your people.

It is curious how this theory seems to fascinate my enemies.

I do not envy the man who has the responsibility for this war upon his conscience. I, at least, am not that man. I think history will clear me of that charge.

'In a sense every civilized man in Europe must have a share in the responsibility for this war and the higher his position the larger his responsibility. I admit that, and yet I chim that I acted throughout in good faith and strove hard for peace, even though war was inevitable.

'Why do you heatrals always talk about German militarism and never about Bussian despotism, or the French craving for revenge, or English treather? I think the next generation will strike a more just balance in apportioning the blame.'

King, according to his statement to the police, picked up the passenger at Zeiger hotel after having been called there by telephone. He described him as a stout man, with a black mustache. King was ordered to drive to the Kern Place addition by the man, who told him that he had several friends there. The first intimation that the driver had of the holdup was the command to drive the machine into the sand and then turn around. He was then ordered to leave the car, the passenger thiring his place at the wheel and going down Mesa avenue. King then went to a telephone and notified the police.

Son Of Servian King Waiter on Dining Car on Austro-Hungarian Road

Austro-Hungarian Road

Vienna, Austria, Aug. 19—One of the illegitimate sons of the late king Milan of Servia, known as the Christich brothers, who have been pretenders to the Servian throne, is now a waiter in a dining car running between Vienna and Budapest, according to an alleged discovery of a newspaper man who formerly knew the Cristich brothers.

When king Milan died he entrusted one of the boys, whose mother was the beautiful Artemesia, to his life long friend, count Eugen Ziehy of Budapest. The inter for years treated him as an own son, supplied him plentifully with all material things—and then died without remembering him in his will or without making any provision for him. Thus falling suddenly from comparative affluence to poverty, the man dropped out of sight completely. His present discoverer, who was making a trip from Budapest to Vienna, and who knew the Christich brothers in the old days when count Zichy was slive, was surprised to find that the waiter who served him so notselessly and completently was no other than one of some rejuctance told him that he had tried to make a living in one of the state ministries, but had failed because he possessed no qualification; had tried the state but had been ruled off by the police because he had billed himself as a prince; and finally had turned to waiting on table, because he knew of nothing else he could do efficiently.
